Municipal offices swamped with calls questioning re-assessment

by MARTHA PERKINS
Editor

It is not an easy time to be a municipal office employee.

Ever since the province mailed out the first notices under the new Actual Value Assessment system, the phones have been almost ringing off the hook at municipal offices across the county. Whether property owners are angry or confused or both, they want the municipal offices to do something to help them, and some of them aren't very pleased when they're told the municipality isn't yet in a position to do that.

"We don't have all the information and that's what's so frustrating," says Donna McCallum, clerk-administrator of Dysart et
al. "It's just horrible."

This spring, the new, province-wide system of actual value property assessment came into effect. Any time you change such a massive system, trouble ensues, partly because assessing what a property is worth can seem like such a subjective endeavour, and partly because assessment has a direct bearing on what people pay in property taxes. Nothing can raise people's ire like taxes.

Until this year, Dysart's property values were based on 1978 values. And since a complex system of factoring was used, when the 1978 value was printed on a tax bill, it was so much out of synch with the property's actual value, people had little way of knowing if it was accurate or not. More often than not, they simply accepted the seemingly arbitrary figure listed on their bill.

A person who used to have a very low figure listed as a property's assessment on their old tax bill has now received an assessment notice with, it's hoped, a far more accurate figure of the property's real value, based on what a willing seller would get from a willing buyer on June 30, 1996. Some landowners, however, are automatically assuming their property taxes will increase by the same ratio, and that's prompting

Access to Algonquin Park vital, Lands for Life to be told

by MARTHA PERKINS
Editor

One of the best ways to improve tourism in the Highlands would be to create a local access to one of the province's most popular parks, says a woman who also believes that time is running out for approval of such a scheme.

"If the entrance to Algonquin Park is not in the Lands for Life plan, we'll never get it and it's imperative that we have it," says
West Guilford resident Carol

Stamp, who sits on the Ontario
Parks board and is also involved with the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association. "If we don't have a road into the Park, it's useless as far as tourist dollars for us. We need tourism; there's nothing else coming into our community for jobs."

Although part of Algonquin Park is within the county's borders, you have to go outside the county to get into the Park along the main Hwy 60 corridor. Daytrippers and campers therefore seldom come through the Highlands during their visit.
Given the increased popularity of eco-tourism, especially among Europeans and Asians,
"this is the bandwagon we've

There's not two solitudes between Haliburton and Winnipeg

THERE SEEMS to be a rule that all magazines in doctors' offices have to be at least a few months out of date, so it's not surprising that months after René Benoit wrote a letter to the editor of Maclean's magazine, the Haliburton optometrist recently received a letter from someone who, of course, just read the letter in a copy of the magazine at his doctor's office in Winnipeg. Dr. Benoit's letter, written as a Franco-Ontarian, was about the differentiation between "equal" and "equitable" when it comes to giving Quebec recognition as being a distinct society, which he supports. ("Equal does not mean equitable," he wrote. "The little girl down the street from us; whose mother is single and unemployed, has her dental bills paid for by social assistance, whereas my wife and I pay our daughters' dental bills: this is not equal, but it is very much equitable.") The personal letter of response came from Bruce Frain, who not only wanted to give Dr. Benoit a Western perspective of the issue, but also wanted to send greetings as a former Highlander. "I was born in Minden," the Winnipeg doctor writes, "and lived in Haliburton from ages three to 12 and am the son of the late Dr. Charles Frain, whose office was attached to our house and the post office, located where there is now a General Motors dealership." These two doctors at least seem to be ensuring that there's not "two solitudes" between Winnipeg and Haliburton...

News about people and events in Haliburton County

Let's hope people read the small print of the "scratch and win" tickets which were placed in their mail boxes last week. Not only are the chances of winning only one in 3.5-million, but in order to claim a prize, people are told to call a number that charges $19.99 a call. As well, if you disobey instructions and scratch off all seven boxes, chances are you'll see it's almost impossible not to find a match which makes you "eligible" to pay the $20 for that call. (On the cards the Echo tried, only the first box was not a match.)

"Aid Children's Aid Week" has been declared for the week of March 22 to 28 for the Kawartha-

Haliburton region, and as part of the campaign to increase awareness of the needs of the local Children's Aid Society, a fundraising dinner and auction will take place at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club in Peterborough on March 25. Tickets are $15 and the money raised will be used for the "extras" that aren't covered by provincial funding, such as summer camp, orthodontia, bursaries, sports equipment and registration fees for the 3,000 children in the CAS's caseload. Contact Eloise Bucholtz, at 705-742-5667.

Sharon, Lois and Bram are "Wild About Animals" as the audience at their concert in Lindsay on March 14 will discover.

This "fabulous fun-filled romp" is based on the trio's new "best of" collection of greatest hits about animals. There are performances at 1 and 4 p.m. at the Academy Theatre. Tickets are $13 and can be purchased by calling 705-324-9111.

The Lindsay Concert Foundation is now accepting applications from young residents in Victoria County for the 1998 Scholarship Award. The bursary helps pay for the cost of furthering musical education for someone aged 16 to 21 who "must have demonstrated talent, dedication and perseverance." The deadline is March 13. World Day of Prayer on March 6 focuses on Madagascar

Two neighbours. One has an adequate income of about $22,000 per year. Combined with her husband's higher wage, it makes for a comfortable living. They have two healthy children who attend school regularly and whose grandparents visit them each weekend. The folks next door, on the other hand, do not live as well. The husband earns about $700 per year. In part because she has had such poor schooling, the wife can't find much work outside the home. Their third daughter died before her fifth birthday and their remaining children have never known their grandparents, who died before the age of 60.

Far-fetched? Not really. The first neighbour is you, a Canadian. The second, a Malagasy woman on the island of Madagascar, off the coast of Africa.

How can we and the Malagasy be good neighbours to each other? This is the central question of the 1998 World Day of Prayer, written by the women of Madagascar. Come to this year's World Day of Prayer service and learn what it means to be a good neighbour in an often unjust world.

Locally, it will be held at Lakeside Baptist Church at 7 p.m. March 6. For information, contact Edna Dodham 457-5003.

Haliburton Lake residents nab two suspects in thefts

by PETER DOWNS
Staff Reporter

Four Haliburton Lake men apprehended two suspected thieves Tuesday night during a botched robbery.

Police, who are investigating a rash of break-ins in the area, are crediting the men with helping them recover a pair of snowmobiles and other items that were reported stolen.

One of the teenaged suspects was caught by a father and son inside a neighbour's cottage that had been broken into, while his alleged accomplice was nabbed about the same time at a different location by two other Haliburton Lake residents.

The 70-year-old father and his 31-year-old son had become suspicious Tuesday about 10:30 p.m. when they noticed a light flashing on and off outside their neighbour's front door. Their neighbour usually comes up only weekends.

"We went over and the front door was part-way open," said the father. "We shoved the door open and there was this young fellow standing there with stereo equipment all around his feet ... I think he was just as shocked as we were."

At one point while they waited for police to arrive, the 18-year-old male suspect from West Guilford escaped by leaping from a second-floor balcony and running along the lake.

Because they knew the teen's name, the father and son didn't try to track him down. Not long afterward he returned, asking to be taken home, said the father.

Meanwhile, the suspect's partner was having problems of his own a few kilometres away near Fort Irwin Marina.

The 19-year-old Haliburton male was reportedly looking for a car to steal to carry away the stereo equipment from the cottage that had been broken into. He and his accomplice had arrived at the cottage on a stolen snowmobile.

But two area residents became suspicious of the teen as they saw him driving the brand new snowmobile along a bare road and poking around the marina.

They used the truck they were driving to block the suspect as he tried to flee from the marina and apprehended him. Because officers from the Minden OPP detachment were occupied at an accident, the pair transported the suspect down to the police office where he was arrested.

Police recovered two 1998 Polaris Indy 500s that were reported stolen in Haliburton on Jan. 25. The machines are valued at $12,000.

Both suspects are facing charges of stolen property over $5,000 and the 18-year-old also faces a charge of break and enter.

Police also recovered another stolen snowmobile and parts of a stolen snowmobile in connection with the arrests. Charges are pending.

The two suspects are scheduled to appear in Provincial Court in Minden on April 1.

Thieves have targeted many homes and cottages on Haliburton Lake this winter.

The very next afternoon following Tuesday night's arrests, another snowmobile was stolen from a property on the lake. And in the two previous weeks four snowmobiles and an ATV were reported stolen.

"People have to watch out for suspicious things," said one of the men who caught a suspect Tuesday. "If they see something, they have to let someone know what's happening."

He said home insurance rates around the lake have already started to rise because of the robberies and some people have decided to sell their properties because they're tired of break-ins.

There has also been a similar rash of break-ins on Kennisis Lake. One couple had five snowmobiles stolen from their property in two separate incidents.

Haliburton could benefit from Algonquin mystique got to get on," says Stamp.

As a member of the Ontario Parks board, she's seen a map which identifies significant, identifiable areas within the province, and none of those areas are within Haliburton County. That's why she thinks it's even more imperative to take advantage of the Algonquin mystique.

Additional urgency comes from the speed at which the Lands for Life policy planning forums are moving ahead. She says any change such as a new access road would have to be part of the new Lands for Life policy, which is supposed to be the province's blueprint for the next 20 years. If people don't get involved in the public meetings — a bus is leaving Haliburton for Wednesday's meeting in Bancroft — then the access road won't be included in the plan and Haliburton will have to wait another 20 years for an opportunity, Stamp says.

Carol Stamp says that if people want road access to the Park through Haliburton as a way of promoting tourism, Lands for Life must be lobbied

She envisions a road that cuts down from Hwy 60, through Rock Lake and then along the Harburn Road into Haliburton village. In the past, she says, the county has balked because of the price, but it's better to at least get approval for the road now, and then start saving money to pay for it later.

"If you can get Lands for Life singing that way, then more power to you," says Dysart councillor and Harcourt timberman Tom Coghlan, who's been working for three years on getting better public access to the Park. Just last week he had two meetings with Ministry of Natural Resources officials about several options.

In the short term, he'd like to make better use of an area in Clyde and Bruton (part of Dysart et al) that is now frequented primarily by cross country skiers, hunters and loggers. Since none of them are there in the summer, he'd like to see the area opened for camping, with no motors allowed on the lakes, and no bottles or cans allowed.

Another option is to improve access through Harcourt and yet another is to build a road in via Percy Lake. For this latter option, however, the land is privately owned and many arrangements would have to be worked out first.

Coghlan, who is also vice-chairperson of the Algonquin Forestry Authority, says "it might help if people put a little pressure on (the committee)" to further consider access through Algonquin Park.

"If we should be making an application, then absolutely," agrees county warden

(and Dysart et al reeve) Murray Fearrey. "We've made overtures for years."

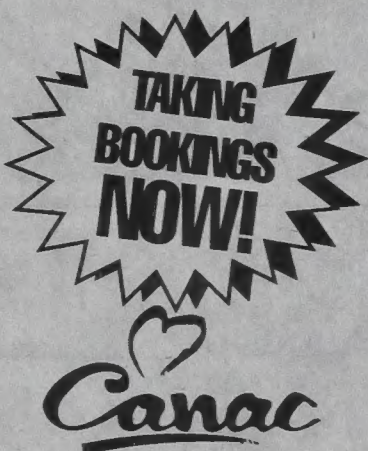

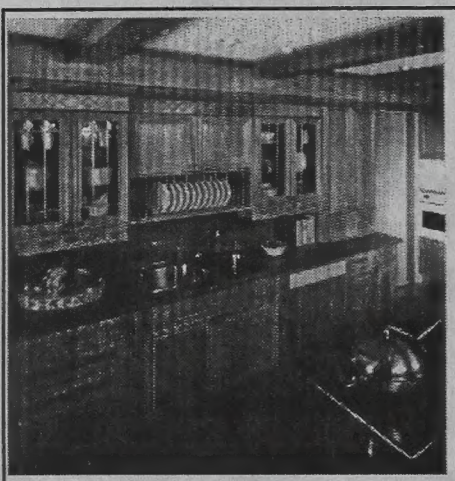

In the next few weeks, the Lands for Life committee will continue touring the province to solicit "specific and focused commentary about the forthcoming preliminary land use planning report."

A bus will take local residents to Wednesday's stopover in Bancroft. It leaves from the Haliburton arena at 5 p.m. and will return at about 10 p.m. If you'd like to be on it, call Jack Campbell at 457-3030 or Carol Stamp at 457-1386 days or 754-1162 evenings.

The Lands for Life public meetings are as follows, from 1 to 4 p.m. and 6 to 10 p.m.: Feb. 24, Grandview Inn, Huntsville; Feb. 25, Bancroft Fish and Game Club; Feb. 26, Pembroke Catering Hall; Mar. 2, Ramada Inn, Sault Ste. Marie; Mar. 4, Ramada Inn, Sudbury; Mar. 5, Pinewood Park Inn, North Bay. The second round of public meetings are Mar. 23, Grandview Inn, Huntsville; Mar. 25, Bancroft Fish and Game Club; Mar. 27, Best Western Inn, Pembroke; Apr. 7, Ramada Inn, Sault Ste. Lands for Life deadline revised to allow more time for submissions

Natural Resources Minister John Snobelen has revised the deadline until the end of June for the three Lands for Life round tables to report their recommendations for the protection and use of 46 million hectares of Crown lands in Northern Ontario.

"The response to the Lands for Life public meetings has been overwhelming," Snobelen said. "Allowing more time will enhance the process because the round tables have hundreds of submissions to consider."

Originally, the three round tables were to provide the Minister with their recommendations by March 1998. Given the substantive interest and input, the deadline has been revised and the round tables will have until June 30, 1998 to make their recommendations.

The round tables will provide the Minister with recommendations to assist him in determining the long-term protection and use of Ontario's natural resources on Crown land in Ontario's forested regions. Lands for Life will address the increasing demands and competition for access to limited publicly owned natural resources and ensure they are used sustainably.

The province has been divided into three ecological regions: Boreal West, Boreal East and Great Lakes St. Lawrence. Three round tables have been set up with representatives of environmentalist groups, tourist operators, Aboriginal peoples, recreational users, the forest industry and people who work in resource-based industries. The round tables have held many meetings to hear input from the public. They are now developing an initial set of options for land use that the public will be able to review and comment on through the month of March. The round tables will then select preferred options, which the public will be able to review. After the round tables make their recommendations to the Minister, a draft regional land use strategy will be developed. The public will also be consulted on the strategy.

KEEPING DOWNTOWN ALIVE

Haliburton BIA expresses the need to "band together" to ensure main street can thrive

by PETER DOWNS
Staff Reporter

Haliburton's BIA has enough money and manpower right now to cover only the "bare essentials" of its mandate, say members of the association's executive.

If it's ever going to be able to do more to spruce up the village and help create a better local business environment, it's going to have to get a lot bigger, they maintain.

"We all need to band together, whether your property is located within the present BIA boundary or outside," Andy Glecoff told business operators, land owners and others at a public meeting Wednesday evening. "This village is too small to even consider (not doing) that. You're all in the same boat."

He noted the BIA's boundaries presently don't even include all businesses on main street, running from Newbatt Appliances in the east, to Cedar St in the west and the bridge on Maple St. to the north.

Glecoff and executive member Jim Henwood told the audience they want the BIA enlarged to include all businesses in the village, stretching as far north as Elstone Motors on Hwy. 118 and as far south on Hwy. 121 as the Beer Store, including the Industrial Park.

Glecoff said the BIA will try to get business operators and landowners in the targeted areas to approve the proposal before bringing it to Dysart council for its endorsement.

If at least two thirds of the businesses in the proposed expansion areas support the plan, then Dysart has the power to pass a bylaw extending the BIA's boundaries.

A previous attempt to expand the BIA to Village Court Plaza failed several years ago.

The total levy for Haliburton's BIA is $10,000, leaving it with little money to spare after covering costs for the basics — buying flowers during the summer, hanging street banners and Christmas decorations, as well as other small efforts to improve the village's appearance.

But an expanded BIA with more businesses chipping in to the budget would allow it to spend more on marketing, activities to draw visitors and make village upgrades, said Glecoff.

The BIA and the municipality shared the cost of having an urban design consultant create a master plan to dramatically improve Haliburton's physical appearance.

But without more money, it will be difficult for the BIA to carry out many of the more costly projects, such as installing heritage-style street lights.

However, at least one member of the audience argued the BIA shouldn't be involved in major infrastructure projects in the first place.

David Bishop, Sr. said the municipality of Dysart should be "paying more attention to main street," considering the high amount of taxes it collects from downtown property owners and business operators.

"The township has got to be pushed to spend more time and money on the infrastructure. That shouldn't be up to the BIA," he said.

Meanwhile, the provincial government plans to introduce legislation changes in the spring that should help protect BIAs, indicated Ted Brandon, a representative from Victoria-Haliburton Chris Hodgson's office.

Some municipal officials and business operators fear property assessment changes introduced by the province as of Jan. 1 could spell the end for some BIAs.

Under the former tax system, all those who paid business occupancy taxes within the designated business improvement area — landowners, as well as tenants — were responsible for paying a BIA levy.

But Tory tax reforms eliminate business assessment and business occupancy tax, making

LISTENING TO CONCERNS: Dysart et al Deputy-reeve Bill Davis and Ted Brandon, representing MPP Chris Hodgson, respond to business owners questions at Wednesday's public meeting about the BIA and taxation issues.

property owners, not business operators, solely responsible for BIA levies.

The move has raised concerns that downtown property owners who rent out their store fronts may take less interest in the BIA than current association members.

As well, some are worried landlords may rather see the BIAs disbanded than pay the new levy.

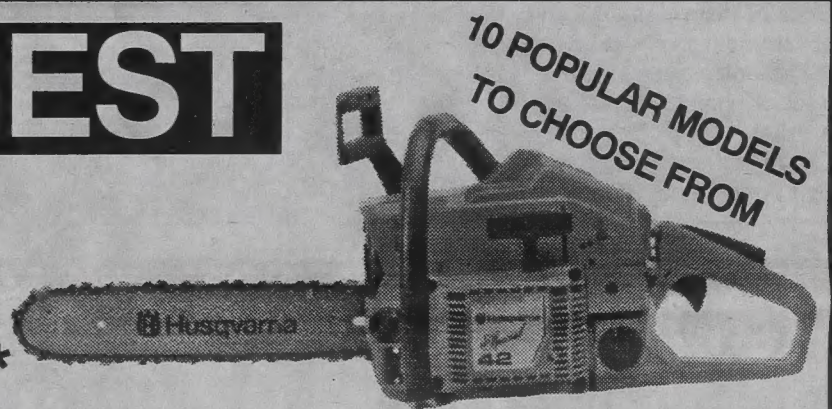

However, Brandon told the audience legislation will be passed this spring to enable landlords to pass BIA levies on to their tenants, allowing tenants to sit on the boards of management that run the BIAs.

Landlords would determine how the levy is to be divided — likely by square footage — if they have multiple tenants in one building.

People worried about tax increases

many of the phone calls.

As well, when people phone the assessment office to ask how the new assessment figure will affect their property taxes, they're told to phone their municipal office, which is also burning up the lines.

To complicate matters, the assessment notice says "the municipal office will be able to provide information on these (tax) rates when they have been established." The operative word here is "when". When doesn't mean now because the offices have not got any of their figures on such things as downloading costs from the province, and this is making it impossible to even guess budget figures.

While the introduction of AVA is bound to cause some shifts in taxation, the mill rate — now called the tax rate — will also be changed and there might be some people who find they're paying less taxes under AVA than before. As well, taxation levels will also have a lot to do with the impact of downloading of services from the provincial government, which is now picking up 50% of education costs.

So when people call the municipal office and are told that the tax rate figures aren't yet available, some of them think it's all part of a government plot to raise taxes.

The other issue that's prompting a lot of phone calls are two lines in a letter from the Assessment Commissioner about the Ontario Fair Assessment System. The letter says "municipalities must offer a program to cancel or defer property tax increases resulting from reassessment from low-income senior and low-income disabled homeowners. Municipalities can phase in tax changes related to assessment over a period for up to eight years."

"On a single issue, I've never been called as many times," says Dysart et al Reeve Murray Fearrey.

It's very important to note that any deferment or cancellation is only on the portion of the tax increase that's the result of an increase in assessment; it's not on the entire tax bill or the portion of taxes that go up simply because the municipality, county and board of education need more money.

Asked what will be used to determine who qualifies as a low-income landowner, McCallum says one of the suggestions is to use the welfare eligibility guidelines.

These issues will be debated at Wednesday's county council meeting.

Meanwhile, people are encouraged to attend the public meetings about assessment. They are as follows, from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m., on February 26 and 27, and March 2:

- For Stanhope, Sherborne et al, Lutterworth, Snowdon and Anson, Hindon and Minden: the Minden arena
- Dysart et al and Glamorgan: the Dysart community centre in Haliburton
- For property owners in Monmouth, Cardiff and Bicroft: council chambers at the Lloyd Watson Centre in Wilberforce

AVA's big question: Is it fair?

by MARTHA PERKINS
Editor

It's important to split the confusion about property assessment and property taxes into two separate components: your property's assessed value under AVA and the amount you have to pay for municipal, county and education costs.

Property tax is a property's assessment multiplied by a tax rate which is based on how much money the municipality must raise to cover its budget costs. So far, municipalities have not even been able to start setting budgets because they do not yet have the figures from the province about the impact of downloading and the province's new pledge to pick up 50% of education costs. Since the other 50% of education costs are paid by property owners and the board of education has not yet received direction about how much it is allowed to spend, there are further delays in even being able to estimate whether property taxes will increase.

The following are some of the issues involving the new system of property assessment.

When you get your assessment notice with the new value noted, the main question you should ask is whether the figure is fair. If you had sold your property in June of 1996, is the value listed on your assessment the same as the price you'd expect to receive?

In the past, the assessed value was 20 years out of date. Even if you haven't done anything to improve your property in 20 years, the truth of the matter is that property values have increased. If you sold your property tomorrow, would you be content to get a 1978 price?

How do you know whether the price is fair? In that regard, you have to do a little research. Let's say you know of a property very much like yours which sold recently. You can ask the real estate office for the selling price. Even if a similar property hasn't sold, you can come to the municipal office and look up the roll number of that property and see if the value listed is the same.

Some people are asking the municipality if they should get their property appraised, but Dysart's clerk-administrator Donna McCallum says the above suggestions are things people can do themselves.

What's assessment based on?

When the province decided to introduce AVA, the assessment office didn't have the time or staff to do individual inspections of each property. Most property owners were sent a questionnaire asking them for details about their property and any improvements which may have been made. The assessment commissioner says most people were honest in their responses.

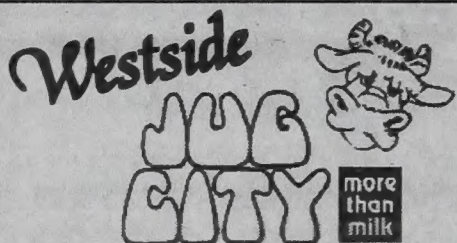

An assessment officer figures out a property's value pretty much the same way a real estate appraiser does. Is it on water with good access? How many bedrooms and bathrooms are there? Does it have air conditioning and hardwood floors? Basically, everything and anything is taken into consideration since assessment is now supposed to be more closely attuned with current real estate prices. As the system comes into effect, those values are expected to fluctuate from year to year, just as the market does.

If a house or cottage is new, it's far more likely that the assessment office has an up-to-date estimate of its value. Older cottages and homes, which haven't been inspected for decades, may be lagging behind in their documented value, so it's these properties which may see a bigger increase in assessment.

"It seems as though the newer cottagers and houses are coming in closer (to an agreed-upon value)," says McCallum. "With newer places, the assessment officers have already taken everything into consideration."

If you disagree with the assessed value of your property, the deadline to file an appeal is June 29.

But even if you appeal your assessment, McCallum reminds you that you are legally obliged to pay your interim tax bill, which is 50% of your last tax bill. If you don't, you will be penalized. If your appeal is successful, then the municipality will give you a rebate.

Trails for all

IT'S ONE THING TO HAVE acres upon acres of forests and a winter climate that usually includes lots of snow. It's another thing to transform those assets into something that will generate tourism and recreational opportunities.

Thanks to the volunteer efforts of the Haliburton nordic ski club, the dedication of the nordic ski association, and the generosity of local business owners, that task has been accomplished at Glebe Park in Haliburton. What was once a forested parkland rarely used by anyone has become an increasingly popular venue for both recreational and competitive cross country skiing.

It's because of everyone pulling together that the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School was able to host the prestigious finals of the high school cross country ski circuit, and the skiing portion of this year's Ontario Winter Games at Glebe Park. More than 800 competitors and their families have converged in Haliburton for two days of races (which conclude today, Tuesday.) If the past few weeks hadn't been spent by volunteers improving the trails, it wouldn't have been possible to host such a big event. In fact, the work started last spring when volunteers hit the trails to clear trees and remove obstacles. Those with skills as builders also transformed the bandshell – used at most one or two days a year – into a comfortable clubhouse which can be the base office for an entire season of skiing.

There will be an economic boost from having so many people in the village for two days, of course. Accommodations were booked, meals were eaten and no doubt a few souvenirs will be taken home. During the slow months of winter, any little bit helps, but the real economic advantage will be garnered in the weeks and years to come. No doubt some of those skiers and their families were in the area for the first time, and once having had a taste of Highlands beauty, will want to come back for more, both in winter to enjoy the trails and in summer to enjoy the lakes that are now covered in a blanket of snow and ice. Anything that enhances the profile of any part of the Highlands is good for everyone, just like the Sled Dog Derby in Minden benefits the county as a whole from increased media exposure and visits from people who might not otherwise have a reason to come here.

But again, in these times of fiscal restraint, when governments have neither the will nor the resources to spend money on infrastructure, the value of the work done by the volunteers can't be praised enough. No one was there to see them do the work, nor will the economic fruits of their labour been immediately obvious, and yet so many people are now able to enjoy the beauty of the Glebe Park forest thanks to their efforts. Skiers and non-skiers are grateful.

Singing troubadours

How many schools will have to change their school colour to green (as in "with envy") after hearing the Gooderham school children perform with Tamarack on Friday night at the Haliburton Legion? Certainly every educator and every parent could see what wonderful things emerged from the three-day workshop with Ontario's unofficial troubadours and would wish the same thing could take place at their school.

Sometimes you attend events simply as a sign of support and then you're pleasantly surprised when you find you're actually really enjoying them. Such was the case with Friday's concert. Many people would not have guessed how entertaining the students' songs turned out to be since most of those students had had their first taste of songwriting just the previous day. The audience was there to applaud and encourage, but by the end of the evening, they were there simply because it was so much fun. The students earned the price of admission.

Of course, it was a bonus to hear Tamarack perform as well. After an exhausting three-day schedule – which even included shovelling the snow off principal Georgiana Boyle's roof – they gave one of the best performances heard at the Legion. History never sounded as good. Their blend of soulful harmonies, powerful voices and heart-stirring lyrics earned them a place in Canada's musical history book.

Congratulations to everyone.

Time for term 'ladies' to be dropped from language

To the Editor:

Marion Hare expressed concern that the word 'ladies' could disappear from the language. (Art and Me, February 17)

Good. In my view, ladies, lady and ladylike are all relics of a former time, suitable for Jane Austen's refined, upper class Victorian sitting room but out of step with appropriate terminology for modern women and girls.

As Mrs. Hare indicates, the word 'ladies' has a multitude of meanings. That lack of exactitude may be part of the problem. However, if a female child in our society is told to 'be a little lady', I think we all know what that means. The expression carries a clear message of certain behavioural expectations. In my view, those are expectations of conformity, compliance, deference, quietness and 'goodness'. Little room here for modern gender realities and little encouragement for such necessary virtues as independence, emotional and spiritual strength, assertiveness and non-traditional accomplishment.

Where boys can rightly aspire to become men, a term likely clearly understood in our culture, what is the equivalent aspiration for 52% of the population which is female? Women? I think not. Perhaps permanent girlhood. Many grown women in our culture refer to themselves and each other as 'girls' throughout their lives and apparently feel unaccountably flattered to be referred to as immature (read young, desirable and sexy?) by male friends.

There is a strong and compelling message here also. This message, that human females are attractive and desirable only when young does all of us a disservice and is particularly disrespectful of females.

I respect Mrs. Hare's lament for the possible loss of the word 'ladies', an English language anachronism. However, I think the question is not so much whether 'ladies' remains in common usage but why there is such difficulty with 'women'.

Community gets behind effort to save daycare

To the Editor:

It's amazing what can be accomplished when a community puts their minds to it. Less than six months ago, the news went out that Minden CHACE Day Care was going to be shutting our doors. We needed money and we needed new enrollment.

Well, during this short period of time, we've raised several thousand dollars and have enrolled new families.

Our latest Bingo fundraiser was a new event for most of us. Thanks to Minden Rotary, Lions and the Municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden for their donations of space, equipment and manpower, enabling us to run a very successful Bingo. The support of the obviously dedicated "Bingo goers" as well as the inexperienced players alike were a joy to be around for the afternoon.

Congratulations to all of the winners of that day and another huge thank you to the volunteers and those service clubs. And, finally, thanks to the people of Haliburton County, where once again it proves to be a benefit to be part of a small but caring and aware community.

Dog days

WE HAVE been having some problems with our dog of late. I am not sure if it is that lack of mid-winter motivation or a case of unrequited love but our Soxxie-Boy has been less than princely these days. It wouldn't be so bad if he had always been like this but it seems to have come out of nowhere. It can be worse than trying to figure out your kids. I mean, at least when Sophie stomps off to her room saying, "Why can't I have brownies for breakfast?" it is pretty self-explanatory. But when a dog chews up four squares of parkay floor, it kind of leaves you scratching your head.

For the most part, Sox has been a pretty good mutt. He adapted well to having to perform his bodily functions out-of-doors. I know I would have the largest bladder in captivity if I had to go out in -15 degree weather. He stayed upstairs and never climbed on the furniture, even when coaxed. Whenever he had to travel in the car, he was pretty placid and never once asked "Are we almost there?". Sure there was the odd mishap here and there but really, nothing to get bent out of shape over. Until recently that is.

Christmas was fine, even when the comings and goings and everyone's routine being disrupted a bit. Sox weathered all of that so well we were even getting so that he could be let off his leash for a little run and would actually return when called. He would retrieve his leash when he had to go out and wait patiently by the door until someone was inspired to take him out. There was even a successful overnight with Grandma and Grandpa. We were beginning to congratulate ourselves on what our fine canine, which of course was the kiss of death.

About three weeks ago, Sox began to exhibit some behaviour patterns that made us think that he had become some other dog. I first noticed it when I came upstairs one morning to find a startled looking Sox rousing himself from slumber not from his cosy mat in the corner of the TV room but from the couch! And he didn't even have the decency to look guilty. Sophie told me she found Sox lying on the couch and the TV was on! Nawww.

Another day I was doing something in the kitchen when the dog sent up a racket that I was sure would wake the dead. I went to the door expecting to find somebody there only to look out at an empty driveway and dormant street. Really dog, get a grip.

Well the worst came last weekend when I returned from the school pick-up to find the pantry door had been butted open by none-other-than. The children and I looked in horror at the paper from an entire box of baking chocolate scattered across the floor. Gone - the whole box. Well there would be no Valentine for you young man! Then around the corner, we discovered that three boxes of Jell-O had also been scarfed down along with a bag of split peas, some lentils and some saltines. I wasn't even so mad about the food but now I had to vacuum the rug! Needless to say Sox's tummy was a little upset that evening and he proceeded to erupt ALL over the house, much to everyone's disgust. Since it was self-inflicted, nobody was particularly sympathetic to the pooch's problems and he spent the majority of the weekend skulking off to his mat with what I now fully understand to be a hang-dog expression. The whole matter wasn't helped by my ever-loving husband saying, "And who's idea was it to get a dog, Anne?". Oh how soon they forget. We've only just gotten over the debacle of the gerbils in our house and who's idea was that, Kirk? But let's not throw stones.

I am pleased to report that Sox is starting to return to his usual only semi-stupid self. There have been fewer episodes of barking at the air, very little looting of the garbage and no more jaunts with Jell-O. Whatever it was that was bothering him seems to have sorted itself out for now. I guess we all have bad days now and then. I can only hope next time our male dog has PMS-like symptoms, he consoles himself with something other than dark chocolate!

History's verdict subject to appeal

Someone once asked Chou en Lai, the former Marxist premier of China, for his thoughts on the French Revolution and its contribution to history. He replied: "It's still too early to tell". I thought of this a few nights ago after seeing, for the first time in many years, "Easy Rider", the seminal end of the '60s flick that supposedly encapsulated the cherished values of the whole flower power generation.

Now, I may be missing something here, but the film definitely was not the way I remembered. A lot of the acting was amateurish, the good guys dealt drugs for a living, and their once seemingly profound dialogues about UFOs, Freedom and the Meaning of Life now appeared as insipid clichés slurred through an omnipresent haze of on-screen marijuana smoke.

So, the question is, was the movie really this bad, or have I, over the past 30 years, been oh so gradually, oh so imperceptibly, ensnared in the slimy embrace of the (shudder) Establishment?

Yes, history has always been a tricky business, and now it is being revised on an almost daily basis. Educational authorities in the former Soviet Union dropped the subject completely from school curricula in the early '90s until the textbooks were rewritten to reflect the new ideology of "communism = bad, capitalism = good." Switzerland, of late a small, charming country previously esteemed because of its neutrality and compassion towards refugees in the last war,

PERSPECTIVES

Lon Duncombe

'Who knows which, if any, of the pet causes of our day will survive the passage of time? Or which small band of visionaries, unknown until now, will blossom?'

now appears to have been closet buddies with the Nazis, selling their stolen gold and, until very recently withholding bank deposits from the relatives of Holocaust victims on the flimsiest of grounds. We have a historical dichotomy right here in little old Canada, and our inability to agree on the meaning of sign posts in our recent history - the repatriation of our constitution, Meech Lake, and others - may well become a major factor in the disintegration of our country. Even individuals do not escape. Different groups interpret, and reinterpret, the past differently, depending on the ideological flavour of the month. Jack Kennedy, late American president, cold warrior and martyr for freedom, has recently been revealed as a colossal womanizer who jeopardized not only his political future, but the security of his family and country on a regular basis. In his case, the skeletons were real, it just took a while to dig them up. Kennedy, Nixon, Mulroney, Trudeau, they all shimmer, warp, and occasionally become unrecognizable when viewed through the prism of our reassessed past.

So it seems that history's verdict is always subject to appeal. Who knows which, if any, of the pet causes of our day will survive the passage of time? Or which small band of visionaries, unknown until now, will blossom and create that movement which will successfully address tomorrow's burning issues? And against a background of changing opinions and shifting allegiances, how do we keep our spiritual balance and avoid being swept up, to our own detriment, in the flash-in-the-pan fads which will also inevitably appear?

Charity event helpers showed heart

To the Editor:

I would like to thank all the organizers of the Annual Ski for Heart day at Sir Sam's Ski Area on February 14. Volunteer coordinator Heather Valentine did a tremendous job rounding up door prizes and running the day's event. Behind the scenes, Aileen Bruce, Vicki Ross, Barb Hodgson, Al Gostock and Adrienne Higgins were busy with registration and receipting. Without the support of the Haliburton County chapter's volunteers, this event could not be possible.

A very special thank you to the Bishop family, owners of Sir Sam's. It goes without saying that without your generosity providing the ski passes, the use of the chalet and the extremely warm welcome you extend to the volunteers and the participants, we would not be looking forward to our tenth annual Ski For Hearts coming up in '98". It is only through your support that we come that much closer to reducing the prevalence of heart disease in our communities. Thank you all.

Hockey Redmen take on Mustangs in semi-finals

Haliburton high school's hockey Redmen are in the Kawartha playoff semi-finals after scoring a first-round victory over I.E. Weldon's Wildcats last Tuesday.

The Redmen's Chris Moynes sewed up the game and the best-of-three series for Haliburton mid-way through the third period with a pair of goals just 13 seconds apart en route to a 4-3 win.

The two teams went into the final period tied at two apiece, but Moynes put the Redmen ahead on a pass from Ryan Anderson at the 8:24 marker.

Before the Wildcats had time to regroup, Moynes took a feed from Ryan Burk and dumped it in the net at 8:11, giving Haliburton a 4-2 lead.

But I.E. Weldon couldn't be counted out yet. Just 18 seconds later, the Wildcats scored, narrowing Haliburton's advantage to one goal.

However, the Redmen defence kept Weldon off the scoreboard for the remainder of the game.

It took a for while Haliburton's offence to kick into gear. The Wildcats scored the only goal of the first period.

Mike Morissette and Dave Clark finally got the Redmen moving in the second, giving the team a brief 2-1 lead before I.E. Weldon evened out the score.

Steve Eccelstone, Chris Moynes, Jarrett Rowden and Matt Burk were credited with assists on Haliburton's second period goals.

The Redmen were given a victory for the first game of the series when the Wildcats were unable to ice a team and had to forfeit.

Haliburton is now battling the Crestwood Mustangs to move past the semi-finals.

The Redmen were blanked 3-0 by the Mustangs Friday in the first game of the series and were to play again yesterday, after press time.

The third game in the best-of-three series is set for Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Haliburton, if necessary.

Nordic Notes

Skiers get personal bests at Keskinada Loppet

by BLAKE PATON

Welcome to all OFSAA Nordic 1998 coaches and competitors. The members of the Haliburton Ski Club have worked tirelessly to make sure that the trails and facilities you use are in the best condition possible. We hope you meet all your goals for the competition.

A number of ski club members attended the "Big One" on the weekend of the 14th and 15th, the Keskinada Loppet in Ottawa. This year's edition featured fast snow and a shortened course (42km) due to snow and ice-storm conditions.

Personal bests were inevitable, so congratulations to Bob, Jane and Ainsley Heyes, Marcel Crete, Mike Darlington and Jennifer Paton. Jane finished third in her category in the Women's 20km free technique event.

This week's tip was picked up at the Keskinada. Toe rubbers (you know, those shoe condoms that protect your grandfather's dress shoes from winter weather) are great for protecting your ski boots soles and giving traction on slippery surfaces. Use them to extend the life of your boots and to prevent graceless falls while walking about.

Another great, friendly event is the Moosewoods Loppet at the Moosewoods trail centre on the first of March. This race is fun and friendly because of the easy terrain at Moosewoods, but last year's competition was strong, too. The post-race snacks are also the best I've run across.

Haliburton Ski Club members should also pencil in some time on the afternoon of March the 7th to attend the Annual General Meeting of the club at the clubhouse in Glebe Park. This will be a pot-luck affair that is to be preceded by skiing. Watch for details in next week's column.

The skiing at the Olympics has been superb, and it has been a great advertisement for the sport. I know many non-skiers were impressed by the intensity of the athletes, and the relays provided some of the best entertainment of the games.

I did hear, however, a great chorus of cursing when the women's relay was interrupted one morning in order to make way for more ice dancing, of all things.

With all the great skiing being shown on television during the Olympics, many wonder what happened to the Canadian skiers, who seemed to disappear behind even the Americans in the relay events.

Word has it that illness affected some performances, but even that cannot explain the overall poor performance of the team this season (Beckie Scott's good results excluded).

Most agree that the sport simply has not a high enough profile in Canada to attract determined athletes with potential. We hope that the OFSAA competitions here are a step on the road to better things for Canada's ski team.

OMHA Novice Huskies declaw Bobcaygeon Cougars

by ROY BURK

On February 19, the OMHA Novice Huskies went to Bobcaygeon for an exhibition game that coach Jim Winn had lined up because of the lull in playoffs.

We'd had fairly close games with the Cougars all season but now they had two more players who had come back from Triple A hockey. Right off the start, one of these players proved his worth by going through most of our team and scoring with a hard shot from inside the face off circle. That was the last time that period that No. 14 got loose as Tyler Watson and Galen Bowman dogged him the rest of the game.

The Cougars' 1-0 lead broke when Ryan Bottum let a shot fly from the blue line. Dylan Metcalfe tipped it first and then Devin Hunter got a piece of it to tie the game. Near the end of the period, Matt Tripp passed to Adam Sisson who dished off to Dylan Metcalfe who scored to put us in the lead.

Early in the second, Matt initiated the play again when he passed to Devin Hunter who fed Dylan for his second of the game. A minute and a half later, Adam Sisson passed to Dylan who shot hard at the net and Devin tipped it in. The Cougars started to apply some pressure but Tyler stole the puck and put a beautiful pass onto Scott Lewis' stick. Scott sped towards Bobcaygeon's net on a breakaway where he performed a perfect deke on the Cougars' netminder to give us a four goal lead. The second period scoring ended when Adam passed to Devin. Devin's shot was stopped but Dylan pounded in the rebound.

Halfway through the third, it was deja vu, when Dylan again tapped in the rebound. Our scoring ended when Tyler stripped a Cougar player of the puck. Scott drove it home from just inside the blue line. With only a couple of minutes left, the Cougars' No. 14 got loose from the face off and scored his second goal but it was too little, too late as we won 8-2.

Kenton Winn filled in for Ian Sachs, our regular goalie. Kenton did a great job defending the net by making several glove saves and being able to pounce quickly on loose pucks.

Former Highlander comes within a stone's throw from the Briars

by MARTHA PERKINS
Editor

In the six years that Paul Madden has been playing lead on Rich Moffatt's curling team, they've made it to the provincial finals four times. But this most recent trip, last week in Peterborough, was the closest they've ever come to earning the Ontario berth at the Briars.

In the semi-final match against Phil Daniel's rink from Tilbury, Madden's team lost seven and two in the round robin play of the Nokia Cup.

"It was fun to be in contention," says Madden, who was taught how to curl by Bob Colliver when Madden was a student at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Madden, who is the son of Louise Cooper of West Guilford (and temporarily, South Korea), loves the sport. "It's more of a finesse type game, like chess in that sense, and it makes the winters go by faster."

Since Madden now spends his winters in Ottawa, where he works for Peoplesoft, a computer software company which specializes in human resources, getting through the chilly winter certainly does require a little diversion.

Now that the curling season is almost coming to a draw, Madden's thoughts are turning to his other, warmer weather pursuit - golf. Thinking about being on those sunny links is another way of making the winters go by faster.

Rocket Tykes score sweet victory on Valentine's Day

by SANDY JOHNSTON

On February 14, the Rocket Tykes played their third and final game against Sunderland in round one of the playoffs. With Wilberforce and Sunderland tied at one each and the best out of three, we knew both teams would come out fighting and they did, right up until the end. It was an exciting, fast paced game with lots of cheering in the stands for both sides.

The first five minutes of the first period was scoreless until Jessee Tallman scored the first two goals, one assisted by Andi Donaldson, the other unassisted.

There were no goals scored for either side in the second.

The Rockets came out flying in the third as Matthew Johnston earned an unassisted goal. Sunderland scored the next two goals, putting them back in the game. For the last couple of minutes, the Rocket fans were on the edge of their seats as Sunderland pulled their goalie and were determined to score but, thanks to great team work and goaltending by Kyle Steele, the Rockets managed to get the puck in Sunderland's end. Andi Donaldson slid the puck into the empty net three seconds before the buzzer, unassisted, making the final score 4-2 Rockets.

Congratulations to Kyle Steele, Matthew Johnston, Julian Forget, Jessee Tallman, Sonny Simmons, Jarret Donaldson, Andi Donaldson and Keaton Gadoway for playing a great game and for contributing to a big win. C.J. Clarkson was missed in this game but also shares in this victory. Good luck in your next round, guys.

Leafs' shopping spree stops short of WOHL

The biggest news coming out of the G.T.A. (Great Toxic Area) in the last couple of weeks was the buy-out of the Toronto Raptors by the Maple Leafs.

This, by all accounts, was a smart move, eliminating the need for two arenas and making both franchises viable. Just think of the savings for owner Steve Stavro. Both teams can now share facilities such as training rooms and trainers, they will only need one coach for both teams (it doesn't take much to guide last place teams). The best thing for Mr. Stavro is that when the teams aren't playing, the rink can become a Knob Hill Farms outlet!

On the downside for fans is that seat prices will have to rise, making seats affordable to only the millionaire players themselves. In the first week after the takeover, Mr. Stavro, in true Leaf (Ballard) tradition, traded the Raptors' best player and got rid of the coach. Old habits are hard to change.

All in all, it should be a good move down to Front Street, easier access by both car and public transport and the wide expanse of Front Street allows scalpers plenty of room to hawk their wares!

Starting off the action in the W.O.H.L. was Apsley and Whitney. The Shimanos had a fine first period, netting three from Al Fuller, Peter Palbiski and Marvin Sydock. Sydock had the only tally of the second. Apsley finally got on the board

OLDTIMERS

WILBERFORCE

Ken Riley

Apsley 2.

Game two had Bancroft Canadian Tire facing the Wilberforce Golden Ponders. Teams traded goals in the first, Bill Fransky for C.T.C. and Dave Swan for the Ponders. Again in the second, the teams traded goals, Jim Goodwin and Dean Kellar for the Tiremen, Tony DeCarlo and Ken Riley for the Golden ones. The Ponders jumped to a lead in the third, markers coming from Bev Billings and Jim Alden but Bancroft fought back as Goodwin notched another and with just .53 seconds left, Steve Farnsworth tied it. Fans imagined this would be the end of it but with .25 seconds left, DeCarlo salted one to end it Wilberforce 6, Bancroft 5.

In game three, it was the Haliburton Hawks vs. the Clarkson Plumbers. The Plumbers got off to a good start in this one with Joe Roberts and Tom Ballentine scoring, Tom Curry replied for the Hawks. Curry had the only goal of the second. In the third, the Hawks took over, outscoring the Plumbers 4-2 and taking the game 6-4. Rounding out the scoring for the Hawks was Glen Sharpley with two, Steve Roberts and Dan Ambridge had singles. For the Plumbers, Joe Roberts completed the trick.

Husky Mites show scoring might

by MICHELLE LEROUX

The Haliburton Mites played host to Woodville on Saturday, February 21. Unfortunately for Woodville, the Haliburton team was flying. Craig Mulholland took a pass from Paxton Leroux and Mark Vasey to put the first point on the scoreboard. Jordon Roberts, with help from Brandon Nimigon and Julian Berry, was right behind him. Nimigon put his own in with assistance from Leroux and Brandon Yake to take Haliburton ahead by three.

Gordon Roberts scored off a pass from Carson Roberts, then Roberts helped Vasey score one. Paxton Leroux was celebrating his fifth birthday and the feat of scoring four in a row to bring the score to an amazing 9-0. Mulholland was back on the ice to score his second with another assist by Leroux and J. Roberts. Leroux helped J. Roberts put his second one in before Mulholland picked up a hat trick in the last two minutes of the third period.

Mitchell Paterson of Woodville scored the one and only goal for his team. Haliburton finished the game with another goal by Nimigon with assists by J. Roberts and Berry. Final score 13-1.

PeeWee A/E Huskies score pair of wins to end regular season

by WADE MacINNES

The Huskie Pee Wee "AE" team wrapped up their regular season with a pair of wins. Friday the 13th was a lucky day for the boys as they travelled to Peterborough to take on the Pee Wee City Selects. The Huskies welcomed back Chris Bishop but were missing Norm Smith and Ryan Goldenberg, so they picked up André Nichol from the Pee Wee Tri-County team to help out on defence. The Huskies were too much for Peterborough on this night, dumping the Selects 6-2.

The next day at home, the Pee Wee AEs were hosting the Apsley Flames for their final regular season game. The Huskies were down 3-1 after the first frame but fought back in the second, scoring three times while Apsley answered with a pair. During the flood, the boys were given an inspirational chat and came out flying, scoring two unanswered goals to douse the Flames 6-5. Excellent finish to the game for the Huskies!

In their 47 regular season games, the Huskies had a record of 23 wins, 17 losses and 7 ties with a winning percentage of .575. This is an outstanding record considering the AEs played 15 of these games against representative teams. Most teams have one big scoring line and one or two checking lines but the AE Huskies have a very balanced team with two equal lines.

Check out this stat: in 47 games, the forward line of Matt Gerry, Matt Manary and Ryan Goldenberg notched 190 points and the other forward line of Shawn MacInnes, Joey Sisson and Joel Johnson notched 185 points. Good balance!! The defensive corps of Adam Tomlinson, Chris Bishop, Jason Chambers, Norm Smith and Matt Reil combined in adding another 75 points. Good shooting!! Alex Frybort in the Haliburton cage for all 47 games had a goals against average of 3.40 with four shut-outs. Good tending!! The Huskies Pee Wee AE parents are to be commended as 30 of the 47 games were on the road. Great commitment!!

As the boys wait to start the playoffs with either Stirling or Ennismore, I'm very confident the Huskie Pee Wee AE team will prevail in the O.M.H.A. AE group four quarter finals.

The "Cherry Pick of the Week" goes to Captain Adam Tomlinson.

WINNING WAYS: On Valentine's Day, the HHSS basketball team hosted its first tournament. Sponsored by Haliburton Subway, the tournament attracted three other teams to the gym at J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School. By the end of the day, each team had enjoyed a win and Earl Haig Secondary School in North York (foreground, with the Redmen behind the banner) took home the trophy. The other big winner was the 4Cs, which took boxes of donated food back to the food bank.

Luke Lester 4th in snowmobile X-country race

Seventeen-year-old Luke Lester of Minden, competing in his second ever cross country race, piloted his Polaris XC-600 to a fourth place finish in the Nordcan 250 Cross Country Race. Luke was the first Sport Division Canadian Snow Cross Racing Association (CSRA) driver across the finish line behind three other veteran, Hearst area, non-CSRA racers. He will receive top Sport Class points for his effort.

Luke ran the 235-mile race in just over 275 minutes including three fuel stops! This time was actually good enough to place him sixth overall – including the Pro Division finishers. Luke was clocking speeds up to 110 miles per hour with temperatures hovering near minus 20 C (2 below F) at race time. The course consisted of tight, ungroomed bush trails, heavily moguled with rough high speed sections as well as wide open pipe and hydro line trails which pushed riders to full throttle speeds above 100 MPH for long distances on spectacular curvy, bumpy routes.

The course took its toll on riders with nearly 50 per cent of the entries posting DNFs (Did Not Finish) as a result of spills, crashes and mechanical problems.

EXCITING SERIES OPENER: Haliburton's Husky Midgets opened their playoff series with Lakefield Sunday, winning 3-2.

Husky Midgets finish regular season with only one loss

The Haliburton Midgets finished their regular season with only one defeat to blemish their record. This group of young men are well worth the price of admission, something Ken Dryden probably wishes he could say about the Leafs.

The Midgets opened their play-offs with a best of five series against a team from Mariposa. Proving that the regular season was not a fluke, the Huskies swept the series three games to none with scores of 7-5, 4-2 and 4-2.

On Sunday, February 22 the Huskies opened their quarter final series against the Lakefield Chiefs. This game lived up to the pre-series hype. "Mr. Goalie" Greg Schell was outstanding in this game. Greg, along with defensemen Andrew Burtch, Matt Reid, Dave Clark, Devon Dart and Dan Koz held the Huskies in the game until the offence kicked in.

At 13:36 of the second period, Steve St. Cyr finished off a slick passing play from Matt Burk and Jason Henry. Matt Burk scored at 10:10 of the third period from Jason Henry and Steve St. Cyr. And just ten seconds later, Jason Henry scored with assists going to Matt Burk and Steve St. Cyr.

This game was a battle from start till finish, with the Chiefs never saying die. The outcome of this game could have been a different if not for the defense work of forwards M. Morissette, Blaine Saunderson, Chris Moynes, Greg Luck, Pugh, Matt Billings and G. Forgrave. Final score Huskies 3, Chiefs 2. Great effort guys. Keep it up. The next home game is February 28 at 8 p.m.

Team play helps Atom B Huskies at tournament

The Atom B Huskies travelled Woodville on February 14 to participate in a tournament. The first team we met was New Cumseith and the game proved to be a good indicator of what the rest of the day was going to be. The game ended in our favour with a score of 1-0. Our lone goal was scored by Kyle Espie, assisted by Nick Judge in the first period.

Our second game, against Port Perry, also saw tight action and ended in our favour 3-2. The last 30 seconds left in the third period. Goals were scored by Nick Judge, Michel Leroux and Jonathan Sharpley. Assists went to Shawn Heming, Greg Nimigon and Nick Judge (2).

We were then in the championship game against Mariposa, whom we had played earlier in the season with a loss. The team made the game very exciting for the crowd. Unfortunately, we were unable to bring home the championship trophies but not one of the boys should be ashamed by losing the game by a score of 2-1. We had lots of chances to score but the puck would not co-operate. The MVP of the game for our team was Jonathan Sharpley, who received an Olympic watch. All of the boys received a very impressive trophy to take home. Our lone goal was scored in the second period by Jonathan Sharpley, assisted by Nick Judge.

On February 15, we continued our playoff series and hosted Beaverton 2. Our team came out flying and did not quit until the final buzzer. The team played an excellent game, setting up plays and carrying them through. Also, we had no penalties. The final score was 8-2 in our favour and that ended our games with this team from Beaverton for the year. Some very nice goals were scored, a pleasure for our side to watch. Goals were scored by Jonathan Sharpley (2), Nick Judge (3), Kyle Espie (3). Assists went to Shawn Heming, Kyle

Espie, Michel Leroux, Nick Judge, Jonathan Sharpley, Gord Timbers, Nick Chumbley, Jamie

Timbers, Travis Burke and Greg Nimigon.
We have one more game against

Manvers to complete the first playoff round. Action continues on February 24 in Manvers.

ALL TOGETHER: The Haliburton Silver Blades demonstrated their skills at a precision skating meet on February 14 in Whitby and had a great time. Our thanks to Julie Hartin for the photo.

Paging Ryan Wood

■ Grade 8 student set for job at Queen's Park

by PETER DOWNS
Staff Reporter

Last spring 14-year-old Ryan Wood caught a glimpse of the way Queen's Park works when he shadowed the riding's MPP for a day.

But this year the Grade 8 student at J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School will get an even more intimate understanding of how politicians conduct the province's business.

Wood has been selected from hundreds of applicants to serve as one of 40 pages when the Legislature begins its spring session in mid-April.

He received word last week that his application had been accepted.

"There were 400 applicants so the gentleman told me I should be very proud of my son," said Ryan's mom, Connie Wood.

Ryan said he wanted to be a legislative page and learn more about the government after he job shadowed Victoria-Haliburton MPP and management board chair Chris Hodgson last year.

"I'm looking forward to it.. I'm excited about meeting all of the MPPs."

As a page, Wood will carry messages back and forth between MPPs while the Legislature is in session. It's set to resume on April 14 and should last between four and six weeks.

After daily Legislative sessions the 40 pages — all Grade 7 and 8 students from ridings across the province — are tutored in regular classroom subjects.

To qualify to become a page Ryan had to have a minimum average of 80 per cent and submit a résumé along with a written recommendation from his principal.

Having a recommendation from one of the government's most powerful cabinet ministers didn't hurt either.

"I do think having Chris as our MPP was to Ryan's advantage," said Mrs. Wood.

Take-over bid angers health unit chairman

Keith Tallman, board chair of the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit was openly critical of the Peterborough County-City Health Unit upon hearing of an attempted takeover bid.

Board members learned earlier this week of a secret meeting held February 5 at the request of Peterborough County and the City of Peterborough.

At this meeting, the Peterborough Health Unit presented a plan to take over public health services currently delivered by the HKPRD Health Unit. Neither the Medical Officer of Health nor board members of the Health Unit were invited or informed of the meeting.

"I am very disappointed by Peterborough's actions," said Tallman, Haliburton County's representative of the board of health. "For the Peterborough Health Unit to initiate discussions without our knowledge or involvement casts a very unfavourable light on their intentions."

tions."

The proposal, reviewed by the HKPRD Health Unit Board on Tuesday, calls for public health services for the City of Peterborough and the four counties of Peterborough, Haliburton, Victoria and Northumberland to be delivered by one agency. Peterborough County-City Health Unit proposes to be that agency.

"This proposal contains a great number of inaccuracies. It has the potential to seriously undermine our ability to deliver quality public health services to the residents of our area," said Dr. Alex Hukowich, Medical Officer of Health for the HKPRD Health Unit.

At the regularly scheduled meeting of the Board of Health, members received a report from Dr. Hukowich which questions the accuracy of Peterborough's proposal. Of major concern was the proposed budget reduction of close to $2 million of public health services and programs currently provided by the local Health Unit.

Board member Bill Pettingill (Brighton Mayor) moved that Dr. Hukowich's report be sent to the Wardens and CAO's of Haliburton, Victoria and Northumberland Counties, and that Dr. Hukowich be invited to all three County Councils to present his report. Copies of the report have been forwarded to area MPP's Doug Galt and Chris Hodgson. Details of the report will be made public later this week.

The Health Unit is mandated by the province to provide a minimum level of programs and standards. For over a half-century, the health unit has been providing programs and services that promote health, prevent illness and protect against disease. Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge Health Unit currently provides public health programs and services to 147,500 residents in the counties of Haliburton, Victoria and Northumberland.

Dysart council cold on snow-clearing bylaw

by PETER DOWNS
Staff Reporter

The following are brief reports of items discussed at Dysart council's meeting last Monday.

Councillors have thrown cold water on a proposal to force downtown business operators to clean their walks of snow and ice immediately following snowfalls.

In a number of municipalities in other parts of the province, business owners may face fines if they don't shovel sidewalks in front of their properties within a set number of hours after it has snowed.

Dysart has been called on numerous times to enact a similar bylaw.

Councillors considered a draft snow removal bylaw, but maintained it would be difficult to enforce and likely wouldn't save the municipality any money.

Presently Dysart plows all sidewalks within its border.

Reeve Murray Fearrey noted that forcing business operators downtown to remove snow and ice from their own walks would cut the municipality's plowing time by only 90 minutes per snowfall.

It would also create an inequitable situation where residents on some streets in the village have their walks plowed, while those living downtown have to shovel them, he said.

Ward 1 councillor Nancy Roberts said it would be costly for the municipality to enforce the bylaw.

Museum budget

After enduring budget cuts for the past couple of years, the director of Haliburton's museum is calling on council to begin increasing the facility's funding.

Tom Ballantine told councillors he understands the municipality is facing a time of "unprecedented" financial challenges as it takes on new responsibilities.

However, he said the museum's role is also changing, placing greater demands on its pared-down resources.

"Last year the museum operated on a budget that was less than 10 years ago and staffing that was less than in 1984," Ballantine said.

Reduced funding last year meant the museum's only other full-time employee had to take a one-month lay-off.

Ballantine asked the municipality to increase the museum's annual budget by about $3,100 so that the employee's hours could be re-instated and some repairs could be made to the building.

Last year the municipality provided the museum approximately $70,000 in operational funding.

Ballantine told councillors the museum has also been able to generate more revenue through various events, including this week's OFSAA nordic ski races at Glebe Park which raised $150 per day for the museum.

"People are glad we're open ... They're happy we're there," he said.

By last week the museum had already received more than 600 visitors this year and several hundred calls for information.

Council told Ballantine the museum's budget request would be considered as it assembles a municipal budget for the year ahead.

Road transfer

The Ministry of Transportation has agreed to give Dysart $459,000 to upgrade and maintain the stretch of Highway 121 (from County Rd. 1 to Maple Ave.) the province has transferred to the municipality.

The funding will allow Dysart to correct
the road's drainage and have it resurfaced.

A portion of the money may also go toward replacing the asphalt strips adjacent to main street's sidewalks, as recommended by an urban design consultant who looked at ways of sprucing up the village for the BIA and the municipality.

Reeve Murray Fearrey said upgrade work on the highway would begin in the fall at the earliest.

Councils want downloading answers

by PETER DOWNS
Staff Reporter

The following are brief reports of items discussed at Stanhope council's meeting on Feb. 11.

Municipalities are growing increasingly frustrated by the lack of financial details the provincial government is giving them about the services they're being forced to take on, said Reeve Eleanor Harrison.

She told councillors she's still no further ahead on the impacts of downloading, despite listening to several cabinet ministers speak to municipal officials at a major conference earlier in the week.

"You never got a really good answer to any of the questions that any of the ministers were asked so you're left with the feeling that maybe they don't really know."

Harrison noted that county council was to hold its first budget meeting last Wednesday, but lacked vital information about the costs of the many new responsibilities it has to pay for.

The Association of Municipalities of Ontario contends the service swap will not be "revenue neutral," as promised by the province.

Predicting municipal councils will have to hike taxes to help pay for downloading, AMO recently passed a resolution demanding that Queen's Park provide even more funding than it has already committed to ease the transition.

In neighbouring Anson, Hindon and Minden, councillors passed their own resolution in support of AMO.

Minden Reeve Jeanne Anthon, who attended the same conference as Harrison, called the situation municipalities have been placed in by the province "almost abusive."

"All municipalities are reacting the same way we are, which is to say this is not revenue neutral. There's just no way the province can say it is."

Tax change confusion

Councillors are expecting tax changes to cause confusion among land owners with large forest lots and farm properties who will soon receive their interim bills.

Under the former system, rebates were given only to those landowners who qualified.

But assessment changes introduced by the provincial government will see all properties listed as farm or managed forest lands pay just 25 per cent of the residential rate for their land on their interim bill.

Those who don't meet the qualification requirements, will have to pay the full residential rate on their next bill and return the discount they received.

"I think it's going to create some problems on that second billing," said Reeve Harrison. "... I think there are going to be surprises out there."

STANHOPE BRIEFS

Landowners who know nothing of the tax reforms are bound to be particularly confused, she noted.

Clerk-administrator Gerald Bain told councillors there are 63 properties listed as managed forest or farm land, but only about 10 of them will actually qualify for the tax cut.

Cemetery offer

Council is considering an offer by the Anglican Diocese of Toronto to take ownership of the cemetery at St. Stephen's Church.

The municipality already looks after maintenance at the site. The Diocese has offered to transfer the cemetery to Stanhope and provide it with $10,000 from a maintenance capital account.

Before agreeing to the offer, councillors decided to seek advice from the municipality's solicitor.

Under budget

Harrison congratulated the municipality's roads department for ending 1997 ahead of budget.

The department finished the year roughly $20,000 ahead, spending about $206,000 on maintenance and $5,000 on construction, said Bain.

"The roads workers are to be commended. They've done an excellent job at staying within budget," said the reeve.

Something to sing about:

Tamarack works its magic at Gooderham School

by MARTHA PERKINS

SANDY WINDER doesn't know whether to cry or give another of her double-barrelled, high-pitched whistles as the students on the stage at the Haliburton Legion take their bow.

"I've never been so up close and personal with something that's so magical," she says, her happiness and pride brimming from her eyes.

The magic had started to happen two days earlier, when the three members of Tamarack arrived at the Gooderham Elementary School, where Mrs. Winder is an education assistant. From the first introductions to Friday night's public performance at the Legion, Tamarack helped transform the students into innovative and creative songwriters and singers. In the process, they also helped teach Gooderham's youngest residents that they do have something to sing about when it comes to their love of their home town.

Proof was in the performance. At times absolutely delightful, at times entertainingly informative, Friday's concert was at all times a testament to the talents of both the students and Tamarack.

The Vikings may have their Norse legends, the English might have the tales of Camelot, but Ontario has Tamarack to transform history into compelling chronicles of a province's struggle to assert its personality onto a sometimes unfriendly landscape. Of course, some of Tamarack's songs journey past Ontario's borders to explore the nation's past, but James Gordon, Molly Kurvink and Alex Sinclair have definitely earned the unofficial title of Ontario's troubadours.

Gooderham principal Georgina Boyle was wise to invite them to her school for a three-day workshop. Among the teachers this year, whatever their other strengths, no one has a strong musical background and Mrs. Boyle felt the absence of song. Apart from all the studies which have shown a strong link between music and a resulting adeptness at math, she simply felt that music rounds out a child's education about life.

A few years earlier, she was teaching at a school in British Columbia when Tamarack came for a visit. So impressed was she by the band's facility in getting the students to become songwriters, she asked the band to come to Gooderham and set about raising the $2,500 fee from local organizations and businesses, which responded with great enthusiasm.

The first day was spent teaching the rudimentary principles of music and songwriting and by day two, the students had broken into smaller groups to write their own songs. What is there to write about in a town of a few hundred souls? You'd be amazed — and so were the students.

In the younger grades, they wrote about what was nearest and dearest to their hearts — recess and "fish gut pie", aka ice fishing.

The middle grades were showing their true stripes as Canadians by writing about the weather, and not just any weather. The drama of the tornado of '47 and bad winter storms compelled them to mimic Mother Nature's sound and fury. (When James Gordon suggests they make storm sounds to illustrate their song on windy winter nights, the students lose any semblance of concentration by giving their best werewolf and scary creature impersonations. By Friday night's performance, however, they were back to scary yet realistic sounds of wind rattling windows and shaking bones.)

They also gave a humorous twist the story about how the local lumbermen agreed to name their town Gooderham in exchange for a barrel of liquor from the Gooderham and Worts Toronto distillery.

The older students turned the stories they had heard from visiting "oldtimers" into fascinating chronicles of the village's past as a lumber town, and the resulting rowdiness of what happened when the lumbermen came to town on a Saturday night.

"The kids are amazing," says Mrs. Boyle during the Thursday lunch break.

"All the grades four, five and sixes needed was us to say 'let's write a song' and they were off," agrees Molly Kurvink, enjoying a salad prepared by one of the volunteer mothers.

"The rewarding thing for us,"

From this

To this

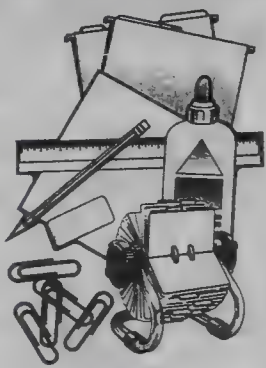

On Thursday, James Gordon (above) and other members of Tamarack helped the students of Gooderham school write songs about what makes their village so special. By Friday night, the songs were so polished that the students' performance at the Haliburton Legion was a pure delight says James Gordon, "is that some of them will come away with the confidence of knowing they can do this and it's a form of expression they might not have otherwise known they have."

Alex Sinclair wants the students to realize that writing a song isn't something that only special people can do. "It's really good to learn a creative skill, a communication skill, and it's also useful for kids to see musicians and realize they could do that if they want to. It's another option for them."

Then there's just the pure joy of singing — a joy that was transparently recognizable on the faces of the kids as they tested out their new songs (which were recorded Friday afternoon at the school and Friday night at the concert. Kayla Manley also sang

Twister

by GRADES 2 & 3
(based on a story told by Faye Snider)

One afternoon in 1947
I was in the station waiting for a train
The wind started to blow
And the sky turned black
What was that roaring down the track?

I asked my mother, "What's that noise?"
She looked out the window and said
"Well, it sounds like the train
But it could not be.
Holey Moley, it's the worst thing I can see."

CHORUS:

It's a Twister
Cars are flying off the track
It's lifting everything
The trees are bending 'til they crack
It's a Twister
Go throw water on the old wood stove
So the house won't catch on fire
Then we'll hide 'til the twister goes.

Thank God for the Kinmount Fair
Everyone from Gooderham was there
So nobody got really hurt
Though some homes were smashed
Right through the wall a piano crashed

Logging Camp

by GRADES 4, 5 & 6

Way back in the logging camps
When the winters were cold and damp
The men go to the logging camps and never, ever change their pants.
The winter days were cold and long.
To pass the time, they'd sing this song.

CHORUS:

We Gooderham logging men are strong.
We swing our axes all day long.
We can lift the heaviest logs.
At dinnertime we eat like hogs.

The winters never seemed to end,
The women stayed to cook and mend.
The wind would blow hard as it could,
While the men were splitting wood.

CHORUS:

We Gooderham logging men are strong.
We swing our axes all day long.
We can lift the heaviest logs.
At dinnertime we eat like hogs.

We load the logs upon the sleigh,
Tugboats take them through the bay.
As the water runs downhill,
It generates that big old mill.

CHORUS:

We Gooderham logging men are strong.
We swing our axes all day long.
We can lift the heaviest logs.
At dinnertime we eat like hogs.

Us logging men are never wrong.
Now it's time to end our song.

David Brindle and Kayla Manley chop wood like the true lumbermen they're singing about while Tamarack's Molly Kurvink provides the accompaniment on guitar

a song she had written about Gooderham with her father, Gordon, and which is now used as the theme song for Gooderham's Horseshoe Days.)

"Don't we have just the best kids around," Georgiena Boyle asked the audience on Friday night, with little doubt of the response.

In thanking the students and the school for hosting them, Alex Sinclair was also effusive in his praise. "It never ceases to amaze me the ability that children have to create stuff. If you haven't spent time at the Gooderham School, you should because it's a pretty neat place."

Somewhere in the crowd, Sandy Winder's eyes were misting over and when she couldn't come up with the words to tell everyone how much she agreed, she let out a loud whistle. The message was clear.

Get out of the way so we don't collide.

Building a big fort out of snow.

Making snowballs we can't throw.

CHORUS:

Recess, recess, we go outside for recess.

Recess, recess, we go outside and play.

We make a little ball out of snow.

Keep on rolling 'til it grows.

Three snowballs stack 'em high.

Use some stones to make his eyes.

An orange carrot for his nose, sticks for arms I suppose.

We swing on the swings and then jump off.

The wind is cold and it makes me cough.

When they ring the old hand bell

we go inside where we can't yell.

Take off your coats and mitts and snowpants

Where we wait for another chance.

High taxes mean high deductions

Most people with registered retirement savings plans (RRSPs) try to put in as much money each year as they can – up to their prescribed limits – hoping to get the biggest tax refund possible as soon as possible. Sometimes though, it may make better sense to pay now and save later.

Making RRSP contributions and not deducting them until a future year is an often forgotten wealth-building idea.

For example if you have the money to contribute to an RRSP but your taxable income this year is very low, your tax deduction would be at a low rate. If you defer taking the deduction until a year where your income and tax rate are much higher, you'll save much more. An RRSP contribution of, say, $13,500 deducted in a year when your tax rate is 27% will save you $3,645 in taxes; in a year when your tax rate is 50%, that same contribution can save you $6,750.

Moreover you can take advantage of the benefits of compounding tax-free. Investment income earned inside an RRSP is not taxed until the funds are withdrawn. Accordingly, portfolios inside an RRSP grow faster than portfolios outside an RRSP. Combine this with the fact that, the longer you leave an investment in your RRSP, the more the effects of compounding will result in tremendous growth. So, if you can contribute to your RRSP but your income is so low that you won't get much of a tax deduction, still consider making the contribution to take advantage of tax-free compounding.

Similarly, interest earned by money in investments outside an RRSP is fully taxable, whereas interest earned by money inside an RRSP is tax-sheltered. If you have the money and the RRSP contribution room available, invest in your RRSP first even if you plan to take the deduction later.

Many alternatives in RRSP'S

There are many different RRSP investment alternatives. Through banks, trust companies, credit unions and other financial institutions, you can put your money in interest-bearing investments such as guaranteed investment certificates (GICs) and daily interest savings accounts. As well, you can invest in mutual funds through most financial institutions and mutual fund companies. If you want to hold a wider variety of investments in a plan, you can use a self-directed RRSP.

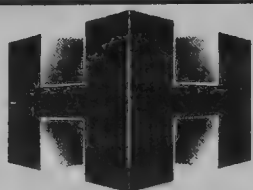

The maximum you can contribute in any one year (called your RRSP contribution room) is based on earned income for the prior year. If you are not a member of a registered pension plan (RPP) or deferred profit-sharing plan (DPSP), you are allowed to contribute 18% of your 1996 earned income to an RRSP for 1997, to a maximum of $13,500. In 2003, this limit will be increased to $14,500. If you contributed less than your limits in previous years (1991 to 1996 inclusive), you can make up that short-fall in 1997. If you are a member of a RPP or DPSP, the rules get quite complicated as your RRSP contribution limit will be reduced by something called a pension adjustment.

You are allowed a cumulative, lifetime total over-contribution of $2,000. Such an over-contribution may be deducted in a subsequent year when your contribution is less than the allowable limit. Once you have done that, the $2,000 over-contribution limit is available once again. If you over-contribute more than that, a penalty tax of 1% of the extra amount will be charged each month as long as that over-contribution is not used up.

You can carry forward unused contribution room indefinitely. For example, if you were eligible to contribute $10,000 each year from 1991 to 1996 but put in only $7,000, you could contribute an extra $18,000 for 1997, in addition to the maximum you are allowed for this year.

Under new rules introduced by the 1996 federal budget, you will have to wind up your RRSP the year you turn 69.

These are only some of the basic rules regulating what you can contribute to an RRSP and how you should make those contributions.

TAX Q&As

Question #7

Q. I withdrew money from my RRSP in October 1997 to buy a home. I have been told that because of this I cannot make an RRSP contribution to reduce my taxes for 1997. Is this true?

A. No. Under the rules for first-time home buyers, you are only prohibited from deducting RRSP contributions made in the 90 days immediately preceding your Home Buyers' withdrawal, and then only if the balance remaining in your RRSP after the withdrawal is less than the amount you contributed during that period. Outside the 90-day period, there are no restrictions, other than the usual RRSP limitations.

Question #8

Q. I gave my 10-year old son a Canada Savings Bond for his birthday. Now I'm told that I have to report the interest it earns on my tax return. Is this true?

A. Yes. You must report the income from any property you give to a child under 18 who is related to you. This "attribution" rule prevents taxpayers from artificially reducing their income by splitting assets among different family members. The attribution rules ordinarily apply until the year in which the child turns 18. However, they do not apply to income arising from investment of the child tax benefit, provided the money is deposited into an account in the child's name.

You worked hard for your money.

Nobody knows that better than you. And no one knows better than you how hard you have to work at hanging on to some of that money to change it from income into savings.

Because our savings are so hard to come by, it makes it difficult to decide what kind of investment to put them in. On the one hand, for safety, you may want to put them into fixed income products like Guaranteed Income Certificates (GICs). That way you know the principal is safe and will earn a set rate of interest for whatever term you choose — no less and no more.

On the other hand, if you invest in equities such as stocks and equity mutual funds, your savings could earn a much higher rate of return if the stock market goes up. But what if it goes down? Your savings could be worth less.

This is the age-old dilemma for savers: whether to accept relatively low returns for little or no risk or to accept more risk in the hope of higher returns. Fortunately, that dilemma has been resolved with a new kind of GIC.

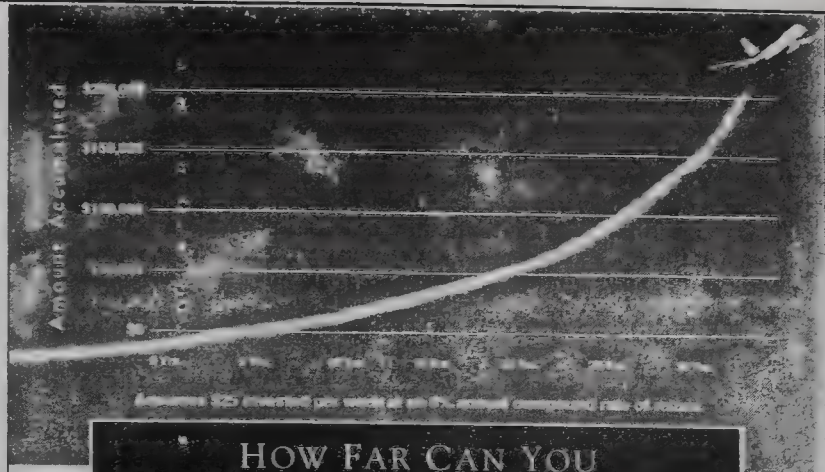

Canadians can now put their savings into a GIC that not only guarantees a return and provides safety of your principal but, if the stock market goes up during the term of your investment, you can benefit from this increase. If, on the other hand, it goes down, you still receive the guaranteed interest payment.

For example, with TD's GIC PLUS, if you choose a three or five year term for your GIC PLUS, the guaranteed interest payment would compound annually and be paid at maturity. At maturity, you could also receive a bonus based on the growth of the TSE 100 Index. Since the TSE 100 Index represents a wide cross section of Canadian corporations, you will be participating in a broad range of the market.

So now the savings that you worked so hard to accumulate can enjoy the best features of both GICs and the stock market. It's the best of both worlds.

For more information on market-linked GICs, talk to your banker or feel free to call TD Access Telephone Banking at 1-800-983-2265 or 9TD-BANK.

WILBERFORCE OLYMPICS

Last Wednesday afternoon was devoted to outdoor education at Wilberforce School, which celebrated winter by having the students get out and enjoy it. Clockwise from top left: At least when you fell, the snow was a cushion; two competitors in the snowshoe relay try to pick up speed; a student takes aim with a snowball in the "biathlon"; and students cheer on their teammates while waiting their turn

CELEBRATING ACHIEVEMENT

Sir Sandford Fleming College invites nominations for the 1998 Fellowship in Applied Education Award.

Through this award, our College honours a citizen who has demonstrated dedication to community betterment through work or volunteer activities. Is there an unsung hero who you'd like to see recognized in a meaningful way? If so, tell us about him or her.

To be eligible, the candidate must:

- work and/or reside in the Victoria or Haliburton counties which are served by the College.

- have demonstrated a commitment to improving the quality of life within their community.

- past nominees are eligible.

The 1998 Fellowship in Applied Education Award will be presented at the Sir Sandford Fleming College Convocation ceremony in June.

Deadline for nominations:
March 28, 1998.

Haliburton, Kawartha & Pine Ridge

Letter of Appreciation

The Members and staff of the Haliburton, Kawartha & Pine Ridge District Health Council (DHC) wish to inform the public that the office of the Council will be closed as of March 31, 1998.

The Ministry of Health announced in September 1997 that District Health Councils across the province will be reduced from 33 to 16. This reduction will occur through amalgamation of existing DHCs. The Haliburton, Kawartha & Pine Ridge District Health Council will be amalgamated with the Durham District Health Council.

The members and staff of this DHC take this opportunity to thank its many volunteers for their work and efforts to build a healthy community. The infrastructure for planning of this DHC has been vital and successful because of the countless hours of commitment that volunteers have contributed on behalf of the community and the counties of Haliburton, Northumberland, Peterborough and Victoria.

To prepare the new Council for its role in planning on behalf of our four counties and the Region of Durham, we have prepared a hand-off report which documents the many planning tables and initiatives of this DHC. The report will be forwarded to the new DHC and to the Ministry of Health prior to the closure of our office at the end of March. Copies of this report will also be available in our office.

To ensure that the extensive work that has been done by the Council on behalf of the community is maintained as a resource to the public, copies of the DHC reports, needs assessments and plans will be provided to: Trent University, the Peterborough Area office of the Ministry of Community and Social Services, and the Peterborough and Lindsay offices of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture, Food and Rural Affairs.

In appreciation of the countless hours that volunteers who have participated on the many committees, and task forces have spent, the District Health Council is hosting a volunteer appreciation reception on March 12 between the hours of 2:00 and 5:30 p.m. at the office of the DHC, located at 159 King Street, Suite 300, Peterborough. We owe a great deal to our volunteers and hope that this coming together will demonstrate how sincerely we value the work of our many communities, task forces and supporters.

We are sure that the new Council, when it is formed, will enjoy the same community support that has been afforded our DHC. Again, we thank you for your years of commitment to making our district a healthy community.

Poster contest celebrates carnival

WILBERFORCE News

Hilda Clark
448-2018

The Loop. Winter Carnival Poster Contest brought in entries from some very talented young artists. In the age 7 and under category the awards presented were: Daniel Beelby 1st, Amanda Petrie 2nd, Kristen Nicholson 3rd, Ashley Alden Honourable Mention. In the age 8 and over: Patricia (Trish) Vanier 1st, Daniel Vanier 2nd, Adam Begich 3rd, Philip Austin Honourable Mention.

Thanks to Mary Barker for this information. Posters have been well displayed at Agnew's Store.

A pleasant afternoon of Court Whist and a busy evening of traditional board and card games was the Wilberforce Heritage Guild's way of observing Heritage Week 1998. In the Court Whist game, players were kept busy concentrating as the rules for each round changed slightly. In the round named Prosperity, each trick counted double; in Conspiracy, no partners, with each player scoring their own tricks only; in Revolution, everyone tried to lose because each side scored their opponents' trick. But Confiscation proved the undoing of at least two players. In that round, players lost three points every time they spoke after cards were dealt.

Judy Johnson and Ross Agnews were top scorers of the afternoon.

In the evening, the local Girl Guides and their leaders joined avidly in the games. Such a welcome mix of all ages carrying on the tradition established by various nurses that lived and worked at the Outpost. That building was often the centre of social activities as well as the source of medical help.

Students of the week at the school were Alisha Townsend in Kindergarten, Carolyn Barnes in Grade 1, Lana Cole in Grade 2, Justin Robar in Grades 3/4 and Kanan Quibel in Grades 5/6. The Grade 5/6 students will be involved in VIP through the police. The program deals with issues such as safety.

Be a kid's friend through Family Services

For as little as three hours a week, you can make a difference in the life of a child. Families of children with social, emotional and behavioral problems identify parent relief as their number one need. You can provide parents with the "gift" of a break and a chance to recharge their batteries, and at the same time give a child the gift of gaining new experiences and making new friends.

Family Services of Haliburton County offers three kinds of parent relief services and opportunities for you to volunteer:

1. Kid Kompanions are volunteers who take a child or youth on outings in the community (e.g. swimming, skating, fishing) or spend time in the child's home for two to three hours each week.
2. Host Family provides a rewarding volunteer experience which doesn't take away from family time. It enriches family life by having you share your good times with another child one to two days a month.

3. Emergency Parent Relief may happen when a parent needs to seek professional counselling, attend a medical appointment or attend to the needs of other family members. As a volunteer, you would care for a child for a short period of time (less than 18 hours).

All volunteers are reimbursed for out-of-pocket expenses and mileage.

For more information on how you can give that special gift of volunteering, contact Marilou Mizzan at 457-5345.

Slippery sidewalks lead to many falls and broken bones

COBOCONK

News

Sheila Lake 454-2314

With so much ice around, it is very easy to have a fall. Some of the folks who are nursing broken bones and bruises are Marlene Cobbledick with a broken bone in her arm, Marion Pearson from Norland with a broken ankle, and Clare Fielder from Coby with a hand that is now all bandaged and swollen.

Katie Magee passed away on Monday at Ross Memorial Hospital. She had been in the hospital with pneumonia, came home and went back to hospital the next day. Sympathy goes out to her family.

Sympathy also goes out to the family of Cy Boreham and Mildress Jewell whose funerals were from the funeral home here, both on February 8.

On Valentine's Day, 11 couples travelled to Fenelon Falls for dinner at the Falls View Restaurant. When dinner was over, all went to the Fenelon Bowling Lanes for a real fun time of bowling. Some of the group were "rusty" as they hadn't been bowling in a long time but it was an evening of laughter. To complete the evening, it was a trek over to Tim Horton's.

A Valentine's get together was held at the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 519, Coboconk on February 14. There was karaoke, meat rolls, a draw and a light lunch.

The annual Lion's Club horse drawn sleigh rides were held at Balsam Lake Provincial Park on Sunday, February 15 with free hot dogs and hot chocolate. The Norland Winter Carnival had ideal weather for their many events. The weekend began with a roast beef dinner at the United Church Hall on February 13. On Saturday morning, February 14, there was a pancake breakfast in the Community Hall. Events at the Carnival were costume skating, a toboggan party, movies, sled dog racing, euchre, sleigh rides, broom ball and a jam session. Small communities always have lots of activities to keep one busy.

Joe and Norma Maguire of Minden were recent visitors of Myrtle Faulkner.

Earl Winterburn is now home from the hospital and we wish him better health in the months ahead.

It's Thursday morning, February 19 and we had rain late yesterday and overnight last night.

If you have any news, phone me at 454-3307 before 9 a.m. or after 9 p.m. if you can't reach me during the day.

A friend, Claire Brooks at Lutterworth Pines, is to come home today, I believe. She was in Minden Hospital, then sent on to Haliburton Hospital. I hope you are all over your pneumonia and flu, Claire! Do take care of yourself.

Jeanne Sears 286-1538

Jean Cox, the president of the Minden Women's Institute, welcomed 10 members and one guest to the February 18 meeting at the Library Cultural Centre. She was pleased that nearly all had made Valentines for the roll call. We were appreciative of the articles given to us by Laura Kirkwood. Thank you.

We plan to have a history workshop at this Centre on February 25 to add items to the Tweedsmuir Books.

Several letters of thanks were read. Some suggestions were read with regard to the hard of hearing. Then Irene Moore reported sending seven cards over the past month and collections for Card Fund and Pennies for Friendship were taken.

Jeanne Sears then read

a summary of current events for 1997 and this brought back memories and will go in the Tweedsmuir. Volunteer hours are to be added up and given to the P.R.O. at the March meeting. Irene then read us an amusing incident. Jean Cox had worked very hard preparing hard questions on geography of Canada and Mary Cox and Bette Herlihey answered most of these correctly.

Next meeting will be March 18 at 1:30 at this Common Room with Bette Herlihey preparing her program.

After the adjournment, the lunch committee served snacks and a cup of tea and a social time went on with the winner of the gifts being Nancy Gayton.

We welcome all ladies to come and enjoy a couple of hours with us and we heard March might be a slide program. Don't forget to mark the new time of 1:30 and the date as well.

Bird feeder doesn't get many visitors in Dorset

by PHYLLIS BRISCOE

We wish a happy birthday to Ted Morris, Sarah Jane Johnson, James Madley and Aubrey Keown. Best wishes to all.

So what's with the feathered population? There must be so many feeding stations that they can pick and choose. But what does one have that another doesn't. I have calls telling me that they have had an abundance of birds at their feeders; others say a few and still those who have just had an occasional visitor from the bird world. Some claim that expenditure for bird seed this year is a quarter of what they spent last year.

The Tall Pines Snowmobile Club/Lion's Camp Dorset annual Poker Run took place Valentine's Day and in spite of the lack of fresh snow, the trails were groomed to almost perfect condition. There were 358 riders entered.

The weather wasn't unpleasant for Snowball 98, the Dorset Winter carnival last weekend. The warm temperatures and lack of new snow cut down on the snow sculptures, some that were started collapsed and couldn't be rejuvenated.

This event brings hundreds of people into the community.

Vi Sampson from

Oshawa was here. She and her late husband, Ed Sampson, built and operated for many years, Sampson's Cabins, the property now known as Rumors. Vi and I are within a month of being the same age and grew up as school chums so we did a lot of reminiscing over a delicious pancake breakfast. Ernie and Ila Griffin were here from West Guilford. Jack and Phyllis Matthews of Bracebridge and Bob Matthews of Sudbury were on the scene to renew old acquaintances and many, many more. The sun shone for the greater part of the day which made it great for the outdoor activities.

KINMOUNT LIONS HELP COLOMBIAN CHILDREN: Five children in Colombia can now sleep in warmth thanks to the Kinmount Lions Club's donation of five sleeping bag sets to the humanitarian organization Sleeping Children Around the World. The organization, founded by Murray Dryden, the father of hockey legend Ken Dryden, helps the poorest of the poor and last December, volunteers distributed 3,000 bed kits in Colombia, including the five purchased by the Kinmount Lions, centre, above.

Hyland Crest celebrates Valentine's by inducting new members to the Wall of Fame

SENIOR LEAGUE

Hyland Crest News

Roving Reporters

286-2140

Did you do anything

special for Valentine's Day? We sure did! A Valentine family dinner. On Saturday, February 14, residents along with their family and friends thoroughly enjoyed some time together. All the preparations that have been going on for some time were certainly well appreciated. Both the dining room and auditorium were beautifully decorated in red and white, the table settings lovely and there were balloons everywhere.

As we mentioned a while ago, the residents this year selected the menu. The main course was chicken Cordon Bleu with small salad and mixed vegetables, white wine and for dessert a scrumptious, freshly made carrot cake. The whole meal was absolutely delicious.

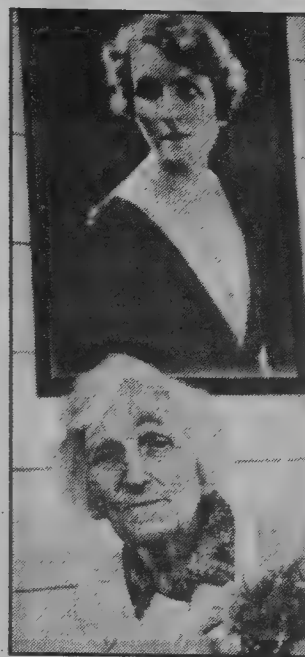

After dinner, seven more portraits were added to our "Wall of Fame". They were Muriel Harrison, Anne MacKay, Laura Upton, Bessie Burke, Alice Morrison, Lucile Clarke and Joan Evans.

Following these presentations, Gord Kidd entertained us beautifully. It was certainly a lovely dinner and we were told there were 145 people in attendance. Many, many thanks to our dietary staff, activity staff, administration, our own residents who made so many decorations, etc. and any others who helped make a memorable day.

Due to the flu bug, the Allsaw Pentecostal was unable to host our tea party on the 12th. However, thanks to Linda, our dietary staff and volunteers we enjoyed our tea party after all. Afterwards, we had fun with a quiz.

We are writing this a day early this week. Our schedule has changed for a couple of weeks. But, don't worry, our column will still get out. We will catch you upon more news next week.

Lucile Clarke is one of the new inductees.

Obituary

Father Doherty a friend to Colombian orphans

Father Joseph Doherty died of a heart attack on February 15, 1998 in Chile, where he had dedicated much of his life to helping the poor. It was this dedication which earned him the Order of Canada and Chile's highest civilian honour.

One of his surviving siblings is Michael Doherty of Haliburton.

Born the eldest of 10 children in Bath, New Brunswick, in 1913, Joseph Doherty attended St. Joseph's University in Memramcook, as well as one year at North Dartmouth Noviciate in Massachusetts, three years in LeMann, France studying theology and a year and a half at Decatherine

Fr. Joseph Doherty

University in Washington. Fr. Doherty, CSG, taught at the University of Portland in Oregon.

He was ordained in Saint John, N.B. in June of 1941 and two years later he left for Chile. His first six years were spent teaching English at St. George's College. Then he spent 12 years working in the poverty-stricken parish of Sandiego, where his real mission started. He would pick up abandoned, homeless children and find homes for them.

It was during this time that he wrote to one of his brothers in New Brunswick, asking for a loan to buy a truck because he wanted to start an orphanage. That Ford truck quickly evolved into a fleet of 45

Macks, oil tankers, transports and dump trucks, which funded the construction of an orphanage that holds 218 children. He did all of this on his own.

The government of Chile honoured Father Doherty in 1966, presenting him with the Bernardo O'Higgins Medal, their highest civilian honour. In 1981, Fr. Doherty was awarded the Order of Canada by Governor-General Ed Schreyer in Ottawa.

He died of a heart attack and was buried in Chile on February 17. He will be sadly missed by his brothers and sisters in Haliburton, Toronto and Saint John.

Roast beef dinner a big success

A PENNEY'S WORTH

Carnarvon News

Yvonne Penney
489-2245

Our Valentine roast beef dinner last weekend was a great success. Our hall was tastefully decorated and we had a pretty well full house. Thanks to all who attended this event.

Grace Cowen was home for a few days a week ago and is now living with her daughter Lois near Omeme.

Much cold and flue virus abounds in our village. This is a particularly virulent strain of flu which puts you right into bed. Best wishes to all afflicted.

Best wishes to Bill Cowen who spent a few nights in Haliburton Hospital recently.

Condolences to the family and friends of Edward Devitt, former owner of Camp Comak who passed away February 20.

Our World Day of Prayer for this area will be held at St. Peter's Anglican Church at Maple Lake on Friday, March 6 at 2:00 p.m.

grandson Lane. The family received friends at the Scotland Funeral Home, 27 Main Street, Elgin on Sunday. Funeral service was held in Emmanuel Anglican Church,
Portland on Monday, February 23.
As expressions of sympathy, memorial donations made to the Heart and Stroke Foundation or the charity of your choice would be appreciated by the family.

AT REST

Passed away on February 6, 1998 in Kitchener at the age of 95

FLORENCE SHANTZ

Predeceased by her husband
Mervin and son Ralph. Dear mother of Robert, Dorothy, Harold and Alice of Kitchener. CA

708 OBITUARIES

WALLACE, MALCOLM E. (of Ingoldsby) - Passed away at Civic Hospital, Peterborough on February 17 after a short illness, in his 75th year. Surviving is his wife Donna, children Robert of MA, John of Toronto, Scott of N.H., Lisa of Alaska and Chris of Michigan. Funeral services were held February 20 at Janisse Funeral Home, Windsor, Ontario. Interment has taken place in Windsor where Malcolm was born. Donations to Haliburton Hospital would be appreciated.

709 IN MEMORIAM

ALLPORT, MURIEL - In memory of Muriel who left us February 15, 1996:

A life well lived cannot be diminished by death.
The beauty, guidance and inspiration she gave us
Will shine on as brightly as ever.
Remembered always by Peggy Fawns and Ken, Marg, Curtis and Erin Fielding. CA

COUMBS, CHRISTOPHER & LYLE - In loving memory of our dear grandfather Christie Coumbs who passed away February 25,
1989 and our dear father Lyle
Coumbs who passed away November 18, 1974:

It only takes a little space
To write how much we miss you,
But it will take the rest of our lives
To forget the day we lost you.
All our love, grandsons Ken,
Chris, wife Melinda and great grandson Christopher.

EVERSON, BEATRICE - In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and Nana, who passed away February 26, 1991

We who love you, sadly miss you,
As it dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of you are ever near.
Sadly missed by husband Bill and family.

LITTLE, DONALD - In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather and great grandfather who was taken from us far too soon on February 25, 1988:
You touched so many people
In a special kind of way.
Family, friends and others
Each and every day.
Sadly missed along life's way,
But in our hearts, you will always be there.
Lovingly remembered by the family.

MacKENZIE/STAMP - In loving memory of our Aunt Donelda and Uncle Grenville who passed away
February 25, 1992 and March 7, 1990:

The gates of memory will never close,
We miss you more than anyone knows.
With tender love and deep regret,
We who love you will never forget.
Forever in our hearts, their nieces and nephews Alberta, Bernie, Cheryl, David, Erin and their families.

MINTZ, MERVAL DUNCAN - In
loving memory of a dear son, brother, brother-in-law and uncle who left us suddenly February 28, 1990:
Many are the days we wish you were here,
With your happy smile and words of cheer.
But all we have left are memories of the past
Until we all meet again, at last.
Lovingly missed, always remembered by Mom, Larry, Linda, Andr , Pauline, Gloria, Leroy and families.

709 IN MEMORIAM

STAMP/MacKENZIE - In loving memory of a dear brother and sister, Grenville (March 7, 1990) and Donelda (February 25, 1992):
We never had a chance to say goodbye,
You were both gone before we knew it and only God knows why.
It broke our hearts to lose you but you didn't go alone,
For part of us went with you the day
God called you home.
Sadly missed and forever loved,
Marjorie and George, Lyle and Carol and Truman.

712 CARDS OF THANKS

The staff and students of Gooderham Elementary School gratefully acknowledge the support, financial and otherwise, of the following individuals and organizations towards our "community study unit" and the "Tamarack" workshop and concert: Glamorgan Township, Glamorgan
Seniors Club, Kinmount Legion, Kinmount Lions, Minden
Rotary, Minden Kinsmen, Haliburton Rotary, Haliburton Legion, Haliburton Lions, Gooderham School Council members, Elva Bates, Steve and Judy Parnell, Marta Mihaldinecz, Pam Manley, Gord and Ron Barr, Dallyn
Pickens, Faye Snider, Wayne Stoughton, Martha Perkins &
The Echo. Without your assistance, this project, which was a tremendous success, would never have come to fruition.

Thanks to HCSA and hands up to Ken for the beautiful groomed trails at the beginning and end of our four day Rap tour. From 13 sleds and 17 people who thirsted for smooth trails and sunny days. The Fletch-ers.
